

Sustainability Volunteer Officer

The Sustainability Volunteer Officer shall sit on the Union's Executive Council, alongside the Sabbatical Officers, representing and championing the rights and views of all 17,000+ students at the University of Stirling.

The University of Stirling Student Union Sustainability Volunteer Officer is a fixed-term 12-month voluntary elected role, operating within the Communities Zone. The Volunteer Officer roles are designed to be flexible and fit around your studies, with all core responsibilities taking no more than 10 hours a month.

All newly elected Volunteer Officers will begin their roles on 1st June 2023, and will be supported with induction and training throughout.

If you have any questions regarding this, please email Natalie Hay, Democracy & Representation Coordinator, natalie.hay@stir.ac.uk.

Am I eligible to stand for Sustainability Volunteer Officer?

For the Volunteer Officer roles, you need to be a matriculated University of Stirling student at the time of the Union Elections, and until June 2024 at least.

What does the Sustainability Volunteer Officer role involve?

- To contribute towards the Union's campaigns and activities across sustainability work, including but not limited to: environmental projects, biodiversity, ethical consumption
- To run, in partnership with other relevant officers, and staff, campaigns relating to ethical, environmental and biodiversity concerns on our campuses and in the wider community.
- To work effectively with Sabbatical Officers on specific environmental and ethical issues and champion the Union's work on the UN Sustainable Development Goals.
- Deliver change projects and campaigns based on your manifesto.
- Ensure the implementation of, and adherence to, an effective Equality, Diversity and Inclusion policy.
- Attend all appropriate training events and conferences to ensure familiarity with their role and current issues affecting students.
